Quick Action Seen On CIA Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will act on the Rockefeller Commission recommendations for ending unlawful CIA domestic activities within two months and will seek to have all CIA probes wrapped up by Sept. 1, an informed White House source predicts.

Meantime, another source said the chairman of the Senate intelligence committee is prepared to endorse in a Senate speech today one of the commission's major recommendations — creation of a joint congressional panel to oversee the Central Intelligence Agency on a continuing basis.

But the chairman, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, criticized some of the commission's other recommendations on Tuesday, saying they did not go far enough in specifically outlawing improper domestic activities.

"What is needed is specific prohibitions in the law with penalties attached to violations of the law," Church said in a public television interview.

Church was one of very few members of Congress to react immediately to the report.

Church also is said to believe that his 11-member Senate panel investigating the CIA and other intelligence agencies will need to continue its work through the end of the year.

Ford's timetable for dealing with the Rockefeller findings calls for a decision within 30 days on what to do about the still-secret material on alleged CIA assassination plots, according to the White House source. The source said he could not predict what action Ford would take or what his response would be to the commission's recommendations to prevent future domestic abuses.

The recommendations were part of a 300-page report released Tuesday which found that the CIA conducted a number of "plainly unlawful" domestic operations, including opening of mail and surveillance of U.S. citizens, which violated the rights of Americans.

The commission revealed for the first time that the CIA had administered drugs to unsuspecting human guinea pigs, monitored long-distance phone calls, infiltrated a congressional campaign and contributed its secret funds to a White House political project.

Some of these activities, which have all been terminated, "were initiated or ordered by presidents, either directly or indirectly," the commission found.

Ford, Rabin Discuss Peace In Mid East

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's push for a new Israeli-Egyptian settlement turns to talks with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, who arrived here saying his country was prepared to do "whatever is possible" to move toward peace.

A down-to-business scenario at the talks beginning today was underscored by the simple welcome given Rabin by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at nearby Andrews Air Force Base on Tuesday.

At Andrews, Rabin pledged that his country would do "whatever is possible" to achieve peace in the Middle East. He also expressed his government's faith in "special relations" with the United States.

Kissinger's welcoming statement included the declaration that "you are among friends here."

Rabin's meeting with Ford was to be followed by a working dinner in the State Dining Room of the White House tonight and a final session Thursday with the President.

Rabin also planned sessions with Kissinger and had appointments with Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House International Relations Committee.

The Ford-Rabin talks follow the President's meetings in Salzburg, Austria, last week with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. The White House later called those talks successful.

Shortly after Rabin arrived, qualified U.S. officials confirmed that many of the tanks, artillery and soldiers that Israel claimed to have withdrawn from the Suez Canal region last week actually had been removed months earlier.

The U.S. officials nevertheless stressed the positive significance of last week's announcement, saying it was taken by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Kissinger as a hopeful sign and is still as such.

However, the eight-member panel concluded that the great majority of the CIA's domestic activities comply with the law.

A Justice Department spokesman said officials have begun an informal review of laws which might apply to both the domestic violations and the alleged assassination plots. The spokesman noted that federal laws are restricted by the standard five-year statute of limitations, which apparently would rule out prosecutions for any acts committed during the Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson administrations and the first year of the Nixon administration.

The Rockefeller Commission report, which is the result of a five-month investigation ordered by Ford, praised the CIA's over-all record of operating within the law and said the agency is needed to enable the president to make sound international decisions.

But the report described in detail a number of already reported operations such as the gathering of files on antiwar radicals and other domestic dissidents. And it also described these previously undisclosed domestic activities:

— "A clearly illegal" program to test the influence of drugs on humans, including the administration of LSD to persons without their knowledge. In one case, a man given LSD later committed suicide.

— The infiltration of a CIA agent into the campaign of an unidentified congressional candidate. The agent furnished the CIA with reports of behind the scenes campaign activities.

— Monitoring long-distance phone calls between the United States and Latin America in an effort to identify narcotics traffickers.

— The collection of information on long-distance phone calls between Western Hemisphere countries, including the United States and two unidentified foreign countries.

— The contribution of more than $33,000 from the CIA's secret budget for payment of stationery and postage costs for replies to persons who wrote President Richard M. Nixon after the 1970 invasion of Cambodia.

The commission report makes no recommendations for legal action, but notes that some of the agency's domestic operations may have violated constitutional rights of free speech and protection from unreasonable searches and seizures. Some of the activities also may have violated federal wiretap laws and statutes protecting the mails.

The previously reported CIA domestic operations confirmed and explained by the commission report included:

McDonald Speaker For Social Services Luncheon Meeting

DISCUSSION—Pickaway County Probate Judge, Guy Cline, on the left and Grant McDonald, president of Ohio County Commissioners, discuss the future of mental patients following their dismissal from state institutions.

By MARION SINES
Herald Staff Writer

Grant McDonald, president of the County Commissioners of Ohio, was guest speaker for the final meeting of the season of Pickaway Social Services at St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Following a luncheon, prepared and served by ECW of the church, a brief business session was conducted by the president, Vera Saunders. She announced that meetings will resume in September at the same location.

McDonald, Ross County Commissioner, used as his topic "Mental Health." He explained the operation of the 648 Board as it concerns Pike, Ross, Fayette, Pickaway and Highland Counties, saying that any county finding it unsatisfactory may drop out at the end of two years.

The Ambulatory Clinic is located in the downtown area of Chillicothe making it easily accessible by bus to all residents, particularly those who are in need of medical assistance and are without transportation or funds for taxi fare to Ross County Medical Center. The clinic is open from 2-8 p.m., the hours when most injuries and illnesses occur. A doctor is on duty along with a nurse and others needed to operate the emergency room service. It alleviates the Medical Center of unnecessary patients who need attention but not to the extent requiring its facilities. Patients pay their own way or by medicare or welfare.

The clinic is open to anyone but basically is operated for senior citizens and others living on fixed incomes and for the needy but is available for all who find it convenient in an emergency.

McDonald and Judge Guy Cline discussed the problem of residents of Orient State Institute in locating them as they are dismissed. Many have no families with whom they can make their home and not enough foster homes are available.

Present were Margaret Barnes, Virginia Adkins, Katherine Dumm, Lucille Green, Eileen Walker, Sherrie Tarbill, Leo Kahanek, Jeanne Carle, Joe Ellen Deal, William Hughes, Waneta Norman, Norma Eyerman, Sharon Eyerman, Melody Wilson, Emma Curlett, Sally Harden, Louise Heine.

Ann Hoffman, Jan McKelvey, Carol Higgins, Judge Guy Cline, Jean Schieber, Marion Sines, Marsha Schneider, Vera Saunders, Etha Mae Wolford, Leona Reigel, Robert Liston and Twyla Lorentz.

Self-Serve Gas Could Be Cheaper

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Permitting operation of self-serve gasoline stations in Ohio could save consumers five to six cents a gallon, a Senate committee has been told.

Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-13 Ashland, chief sponsor of the legislation, said the estimate is based on checks he made in the 46 other states that permit the stations.

"With the price of gasoline being predicted at 70 cents a gallon this year, I think this bill could result in a considerable savings," Van Meter told the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee Tuesday night.

The senator said Ohio, Hawaii, New Jersey and Illinois are the only states which haven't already provided "this alternative type of gas purchase."

He said experiences in the other states tend to show that service station operators do not have to pay higher insurance costs when they get into self-serve operations, and that they also have not had the effect of driving standard stations out of business.

The Ashland County lawmaker conceded however, that he had a meeting with about 40 service station operators around the state a month ago and was asked by them to drop his bill.

He said he questioned their claims that self-serve stations would ruin their business, and asked them to supply him with statistics showing this has been the case in the other states. "I haven't heard a word from them," he added.

Van Meter produced two proponent witnesses from the Gulf Oil Corp., including John Galloway, regional vice president for public affairs who told the committee the bill's enactment "would not significantly change the dealer situation in Ohio."

He cited statistics of the American Petroleum Institute showing that between the years of 1972 and 1974, when many self-serve stations were getting underway, there was a decline in dealers only from 7,642 to 7,375.

Clifford Long, a marketing official for Gulf, said statistics of the National Fire Protection Association in Washington, D.C., show self-serve stations actually are safer than standard ones.

Average rates of liability insurance for self-serve were listed as eight cents per $100 of receipts, compared to 47 cents for standard. Workmen's compensation paid by employers also were less—$1.80 per $100 of payroll compared to $4.40 for standard, Long said.

Van Meter's measure received its first hearing before the committee. Chairman Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus, said opposition witnesses will probably be called to testify next week.

In other committee activity, the House Insurance, Utilities and Financial Institutions Committee began hearing proponent testimony on a widely revised no-fault auto insurance bill.

Herb Knox, legislative representative of Nationwide Insurance Companies, Columbus, urged approval without what he called "crippling amendments."

He defended the bill's $1,500 "pain and suffering threshold," saying it is reasonable and one that would not necessitate increases in rates. The threshold is the point at which a lawsuit could be brought for pain and suffering resulting from an accident.

Tax-Hikers Reconsider

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senate Democrats who mentioned raising taxes to balance the House-approved, $10.7 billion budget bill may be having some serious second thoughts.

Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, one of those who mentioned earlier the possibility of some kind of a "modest" increase, said Tuesday night "we're not ready to make a big push."

Meshel said he wasn't surprised that House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, came out against the idea. "We knew they were generally opposed over in the House," he said.

The Youngstown Senator, who said the big spending bill is at least $40 million out of balance, stressed that the idea "only has been discussed in our caucus."

He denied that anyone was "backing away" as a result of the Riffe pronouncement. "I won't back off if I decide if (a tax increase) is what we should do."

But he said he wasn't sure if he would push the matter to a decision in a joint conference if the House stood solidly behind Riffe.

Riffe, mentioned as a possible candidate for governor in 1978, made his position clear.

"No one has discussed this with me, and I am definitely opposed to any increase in taxes," he said.

The speaker and certain senators split last March when they came up with an idea of financing GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposed $2.5 billion capital improvements bond issue with an increase in the income tax. The idea never got off the ground.

Riffe said at the time Democrats would not take the responsibility for a tax increase for a Republican governor who pledged in his campaign there would be no new or increased taxes.

"The same still goes," said an aide in the speaker's office.

Meshel and others have talked about increasing the income tax only for Ohioans in the higher salary ranges to make up the budget deficit. They also said such a boost, depending on its size, could help the state provide more social services in such key areas as mental health, welfare, energy, and programs for elderly citizens.

Meanwhile, the House Finance Committee began hearings on a proposed $731 million, two-year budget for the Department of Transportation.

Leaders removed it from the general appropriation bill, partly because of its special financing. The department operates exclusively on revenues derived from the state's highway user taxes.

Gordon Scherer, former state representative from Cincinnati who now lobbies for the Ohio Public Transit Association, urged the committee to retain $10.5 million for urban mass transit, as well as $1.5 million for the state to match federal mass transit grants over the next two years.

Scherer said "this represents a good buy for the State of Ohio and the people of Ohio."

Miss Goeller Awarded Two Scholarships

Miss Elizabeth Jane Goeller has been awarded two scholarships from Otterbein College for her tuition this fall.

ELIZABETH GOELLER

The Foreign Language Department of the college recently notified her that she had been awarded the department scholarship in the amount of $800 to be used in $200 installments over the four-year period. The award was based on her academic report and leadership abilities.

Official announcement came more recently of the College Freshman Academic Scholarship at Otterbein. As an "Otterbein Scholar," Miss Goeller will receive a $1,200 academic scholarship to be used over a four-year-period with $300 per academic year.

This award will continue automatically providing the scholar maintains a "B" average.

Miss Goeller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Goeller, 306 E. Mount St., was one of the three valedictorians representing her graduating class at Circleville High School this spring.

Ky Reveals Assassination Plot By Thieu

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky says President Nguyen Van Thieu tried to have him murdered, apparently after learning of a plot by Ky and some associates to oust Thieu in a military coup last April.

Ky said the murder scheme failed when security guards shot three would-be assassins who managed to penetrate the Vietnamese air force compound where he lived at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase.

Ky, describing the events in an interview at his rented home in a northern Virginia suburb, said the coup-plotters had hoped that the overthrow of Thieu would help save South Vietnam from falling to the Communists. He said they were talked out of the plan by U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin, who assured him that Thieu's departure would be "arranged."

But by the time Thieu finally resigned on April 21, it was too late. Saigon surrendered nine days later.

Weather

Cloudy, showers or thundershowers likely today, high, upper 70s. Showers ending tonight, low, low 60s. Clearing Thursday, high, mid 70s. Probability of precipitation, 70 per cent tonight and 10 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 79; low, 61.

It applies only to lawsuits, Knox pointed out, and permits a victim to receive compensation for losses up to a ceiling of $10,000 from his own insurer, regardless of blame in the mishap.

Opponents will get a chance to testify next week.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife dealt what may have been a fatal blow to a bill that would prohibit commercial fishing within two miles of the Lake Erie shoreline.

Russell Scholl, Sandusky, fish management supervisor for the lake, said the ban would serve no purpose and could interfere with the division's management program. Certain portions of the lake near the shore already are protected as spawning grounds.

One existing ban stretches 1½ miles into the lake between Huron and Vermilion, he said.

Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, introduced the bill, which apparently seeks to assure sportsmen of exclusive fishing rights in the lake.

Committee members will vote on the bill later, but one said privately he considers it "a dead horse."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market bounced upward today in a brief surge of buying apparently encouraged by signs of improving consumer demand.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 8 points at its early peak, showed a 3.52 gain at 825.64 by noon. Gainers held a 2-1 lead over losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the principal catalyst for the early rally was Tuesday's report from the government that retail sales climbed 2.2 per cent last month as tax rebates were distributed.

On The American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .25 at 89.52.

The market's pullback from its early high seemed to be prompted partly by a banker's forecast that short term interest rates would turn upward later this year.

"Short term rates in the United States have just about reached bottom," Gaylor Freeman, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago, said at an international monetary conference in Amsterdam.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .14 at 48.26.

Big Bear Reports Record Sales

Wayne E. Brown, president, Big Bear Stores Co. (AMEX BB-A) told stockholders attending the Company's annual meeting in Columbus sales for the first quarter ended May 31, 1975, reached a record $76,499,235 up 9.1 per cent from the $70,126,289 a year ago.

Brown said while earnings for the period are not yet available it appears they will be somewhat better than the $1,248,043 or 99 cents per share reported a year ago. Brown reported both the food division and Harts Family Centers contributed to the increases. He added, "We think it is significant that our Hart Family Centers continue to move ahead while many other general merchandise retailers are experiencing problems in sales and profits."

Brown also told stockholders attending the meeting plans were proceeding with the renovation of a newly leased facility in Huntington, W. Va. to house a new Harts Family Center. The opening is planned for early fall. In addition, he reported "We have installed electronic cash registers in two stores and others are planned for this year and next. This equipment is already providing us with valuable information for better employee scheduling and tracking sales of items. These units are fully upgradable to scanning when we feel the time is right."

According to Brown "We have joined the Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association in a venture where we have computer terminals in our store where their depositors can make deposits or withdrawals to their savings accounts. We have seven stores presently equipped and if the test proves successful, we expect to have 30 installations by the end of the year. This is the first step in electronic funds transfer."

Big Bear Stores Co. recently increased its quarterly dividend to 30 cents per share or $1.20 per share annually.

Viet Nurses Won't Receive Federal Aid

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Twenty-two nursing students from Vietnam do not qualify for federal refugee aid and are ineligible for federal loans, according to the U.S. State Department.

"I feel very sorry for them," said Maj. Charles Earnhart, the girls' sponsor at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at Dayton, Ohio.

The students, who cannot be employed without approval of immigration officials, will lose their government training grants next month. Unless they find American sponsors, they will have to report to refugee centers, Air Force officials say.

Four of the students are at Ball State University here.

The Ball State students are nearly halfway through the four-year nursing program. They said they were assured May 26 that their grants would continue until they graduated.

However, officials at Wright-Patterson, which coordinates the program, notified the girls May 29 that the government program paying for their education ended with the fall of Saigon. The cutoff is effective June 30.

Thelma Hiatt, foreign student director at Ball State, said the girls would be able to attend summer school on university scholarships. The summer scholarships, however, do not include meals, she said.

Capt. Jerry Hix, director of information for the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson, said the girls must find sponsors or report to the nearest refugee center. Their options then include going to another country or returning to Vietnam.

Escapee Nabbed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Lee Brady, an escapee from the Federal Correctional Institution at Lexington, Ky., was captured here Tuesday, the FBI said.

Brady, 39, broke out of the prison May 21. He was serving a four-year sentence from South Carolina for interstate transportation of stolen materials. He was convicted Nov. 11, 1974.

Caviar Replaced By Talk

MOSCOW (AP) — "What's the latest on Brezhnev's health?" "What's this about Kissinger coming to Moscow?"

The questions, speculation and rumors circulated around the crowded embassy ballroom faster than the drinks and canapes.

This reception at one of the 98 embassies in Moscow is not an atypical event in the Soviet capital's diplomatic social whirl.

Because non-Soviet residents are so starved for information about this country, they join the caviar-and-canape circuit to try to become informed more than to be wined and dined.

That's not surprising for another reason. Moscow's social scene is not noted for its dazzling parties, gourmet food and scintillating repartee, as in the case of Paris or Washington.

"You meet the same people, drink the same whiskey, eat the same food everywhere," sighed a diplomat's wife. "I find the conversations incredibly boring because there's nothing to talk about. It's grim beyond belief."

Earlier this year, the hottest topic of conversation was the state of Leonid I Brezhnev's health. Black-tie dinners, lunches and cocktail parties buzzed with the latest rumors — and often gave birth to new ones.

Foreign news correspondents often are invited to diplomatic parties because they are regarded as good sources of information.

"Compared to the time and effort you have to put into it, the amount of information you get on the social circuit is just not that useful," said one diplomat.

But others disagree, maintaining that they learn a great deal from exchanging ideas with other diplomats and Soviet officials.

"The Soviets are much more forthcoming at these affairs than they used to be. There's a far more relaxed atmosphere," said one veteran diplomat. "They will say very little on such subjects as the health of Brezhnev, but they will — and do — express their opinions about international developments."

According to experienced diplomats, middle-level Soviet officials are breaking bread with foreigners more than ever before. But that's not true of the top leaders.

Unlike Nikita S. Khrushchev, who loved to come to diplomatic soirees and usually took half the Politburo with him, Brezhnev and his colleagues stay away.

When the current Kremlin leadership entertains, it gathers in one corner of the room, while the guests are kept as far away as possible.

But despite the communication disadvantages, the Kremlin bashes usually have better food than other Soviet functions. The recent reception in honor of the 30th anniversary of the defeat of the Nazis, for example, featured crab, caviar, bananas and pineapples — delicacies not found in ordinary Soviet food stores.

A Page Of Opinion

Unintended Largesse

With the national budget in a constant state of ascendancy and with taxes and-or indebtedness following closely, this is not a time for billion-dollar mistakes. It is a time for careful assay of every major expenditure before it is made and a followup review to insure it was spent according to plan.

One colossal misappropriation of public funds is about to occur unless the 94th Congress corrects a mistake made by its predecessor. In its waning days the 93rd Congress passed the Emergency Unemployment Assistance Act to provide additional funds to aid those workers who lost their jobs because of the recession.

Because of sloppy language that act has been interpreted as including the nation's school teachers during their summer layoff. Teachers' associations in some instances are urging their members to apply for the assistance as soon as their summer recess begins.

If as many as half the nation's teachers do apply and receive unemployment benefits, by some estimates one billion dollars will be diverted from the intended recipients to employed persons who apparently are covered by the act only because the last Congress acted in haste and forgot to look for loopholes.

What Price Progress?

By JIM BISHOP

A hundred years ago, the mood of America was so optimistic that it could barely conceive of its vastness, blessedness and wealth. Muscled men cut the tall headland trees down; others mined for gold, silver and coal.

Monopolists monopolized; unschooled roughnecks became millionaires and built gigantic brownstone mansions on New York's Fifth Avenue. Sixty per cent of all the steel pouring white hot from furnaces was bought by railroads.

In 1875, the Congress worried how to celebrate the Centennial of American independence. Few listened as Representative Benjamin Willis of New York stood to say, "Rather than expend money for a jubilee in 1876, we should bequeath to our posterity the privilege of celebrating the continued existence of the Republic in 1976."

The Central and Union Pacific Railroad lines had driven the final gold spike into the coast-to-coast rails at Promontory Point, Utah, in 1869. The fare from San Francisco to New York was $140. Travel time was down to an incredible seven days.

The same trip, by ship, required six months to sail south under canvas to the Straits of Magellan and up the Pacific. The population had passed 40 million and over half the people lived on farms. Between St. Louis and San Francisco there wasn't one city numbering over 35,000 people.

Salesmen rode the trains stopping in small towns to sell bolts of dress goods, mules, patent medicines, boots, farm implements. Steamboats with gilded staterooms glided up and down the great rivers laden with cotton, fresh fish on ice, liquor, guns, the latest periodicals.

James A. Garfield, black whiskers jumping as he addressed commencement exercises as Hudson College in New York, paid homage to progress: "The changes now taking place," he said, "have been wrought and are being wrought, mainly, almost wholly, by a single mechanical contrivance, the steam locomotive. The railway is the greatest centralizing force of modern times."

The motivating force of American progress had been puritan thrift. It died when the country, in a headlong plunge of spending, fell in love with itself and wanted to be the biggest, the best of any nation in the world.

Congress appropriated $1,500,000 for a centennial celebration in Philadelphia, the cradle of liberty. The city and the state of Pennsylvania matched the sum. Three million dollars went into the night sky in fireworks, side shows and patriotic speeches on May 10, 1876.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, in a front page story, called it "grand and imposing, as the magnificence of the event itself demands that it shall be." Editor William Dean Howells of the "Atlantic Monthly" swept his conservative notions from his desk as he penned: "... whatever were the various minds in regard to celebrating the Centennial by an international fair, no one can now see the fair without a thrill of patriotic pride."

An anonymous suffragette wrote to a newspaper: "This government is not a Republic, but a hateful oligarchy of sex." The fair consisted of 180 buildings on 450 acres. Twenty-five nations sent exhibits. Six thousand live silkworms from China spun silk.

Great Britain sent a new contraption called a bicycle. A mechanic manned a machine which printed letters. He called it a typewriter and charged 50 cents for visitors to send a letter home. Farmers marveled at a steam-powered machine which could reap and thresh 800 bushels of wheat per day.

Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil tried an invention called a telephone. He dropped it in fright and said, "My God! It talks!" Few visitors were willing to step inside a cage and try the Otis elevator.

Phineas Barnum papered walls with a poster 7 feet by 47, announcing the circus as "surpassing anything before attempted." That was the mood of America: bigger, better, best. The people would not listen to voices of caution. Money-making was good for everybody; everyone had a scheme for getting rich.

William Wrigley was selling dry goods and giving away candy-flavored chicle to induce sales. In a few years, he and a rival named Adams were selling gum and giving nothing away. In Durham, North Carolina, James B. Duke was working on a machine to roll cigarettes. His credo was: "First you hit your enemies in the pocketbook; hit 'em hard. Then you either buy 'em out or take 'em in with you."

America was busting its britches. Few quoted newspaper editor Josiah G. Holland: "Progress cannot be reckoned in railroads and steamboats. Are we producing better children and better men and women? This is the question which decides everything."

Dear Editor:

The 1974-75 school year is over. I have completed another year of teaching in the Circleville City Schools.

I appreciate the freedom that I am allowed to exercise in the classroom. The boys and girls are receptive and have the desire to learn.

Through the years I have been fortunate to work under such capable and helpful principals as J. L. Chilcote, Mary Johnson, Mary Lamb and Roger Born.

Teaching school in Circleville is a privilege that I am thankful for.

A contract was let for construction of a chapel at the Hitler-Ludwig Cemetery in Pickaway Township. The brick with hardwood finish building seating 100 persons was a memorial to Nelson Hitler.

Other new buildings scheduled for construction in the area were an addition to Trinity Lutheran Church which would double its capacity, and a brick and tiled roofed bungalow for Robert L. Brehmer on his N. Court St. lot.

The grand opening dance at Sulphur Springs Pavilion featured the music of Gordon Kibler and his 10-piece orchestra from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Lincoln Kirk of New Holland narrowly escaped death when he was attacked by an angry bull.

Chillicotheans and interested parties from Pickaway County turned out in large numbers to inspect the new $75,000 building of Mead Pulp and Paper Company of Georgian-type construction, it housed research laboratory, offices, hospital and engineering departments and conference rooms.

"I walk in my sleep."

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Speaking Of Your Health

Our 11-year-old child has not been able to sleep well since she saw a frightening movie four months ago. She wanders about the house in the middle of the night. Her teacher believes that she has a "traumatic neurosis." What can we do about it?

Mrs. P.B., Del.

Dear Mrs. B.:

I do not mean to chastise you, but I believe it was poor judgment to subject an impressionable child to the terror of such an experience.

A "trauma" means an "injury." An injury can be slight and cause a bruise, or it may be severe and produce a bone fracture. The incapacitation of the body depends on the severity of the injury, or the trauma.

Just as there are physical injuries, there can also be emotional injuries, or traumas. These, too, vary in severity and in their effect on the sensitive psyche, or the emotional balance of the individual.

A severe emotional experience that affects normal behavior and functioning can produce a "traumatic neurosis," as your child's teacher suggests.

Emotional hurts need as much, or even more, careful attention than do bodily injuries. Encourage your child to talk about the movie. Surround her with sympathy, understanding and affection.

Your own doctor may suggest mild tranquilizing drugs and encourage her to express her fears. If there is a need for further study, a psychologist will undoubtedly be called in by your doctor.

You once wrote that it would soon be possible to dissolve stones in the gall bladder. Has this form of treatment advanced so that it is practical?

Mr. A.J., Mass.

Dear Mr. J.:

Reports are constantly coming in from American and European hospitals about the possibility of dissolving stones in the gall bladder.

In experimental animals, chemicals have been used with moderate success. Now, the ideal chemical that will dissolve the stones without creating toxicity is being sought for humans.

Lottery Attention Drawn By Horse

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Seven Ohioans have six chances Thursday to win $300,000 or $30,000 in the weekly Buckeye 300, but the recent attention drawn by the lottery is focused on a lucky horse.

The horse, John Boy, the mount of a Cleveland policeman, already has won $20 and now has a chance at $1 million.

And a lottery spokesman says the horse's winnings all go to Blue Coats, Inc., the Cleveland group that aids the widows and children of police and firemen killed in action.

The Buckeye 300 situation arises because two Parma Heights women, Gertrude M. Marconi and Donna J. Pogozelski, are sharing a ticket and its prize money.

GOP Governors Want To Block Energy Talks

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes joined other Republican governors Monday to block attempts by Democrats at the National Governor's Conference here to discuss energy legislation pending in Congress.

Because many Democratic governors, who outnumber the Republicans, were absent from opening debate, they could not muster the necessary 28 votes to put the matter on the agenda.

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, D-Utah, chairman of the conference, said, "The Republicans were fearful that it would become an open debate on President Ford's energy policies. They didn't want that to happen I guess."

Rhodes said he adhered to a decision made by Republicans at a caucus despite his announced interest in discussing energy matters affecting the state. He said the votes were "just a matter of give and take politically."

"We haven't had any impact in Congress for 25 years to 30 years," Rhodes said after the vote. "Why did we have to act today on this? Wednesday's plenty of time."

Congress is expected to vote this week on broad energy legislation, including a measure which would benefit Ohioans. Under that measure, an increase in the gasoline tax by a state would be offset by the federal government. Rhodes has proposed increasing the gasoline tax by .9 cents a gallon.

This week Rhodes is expected to confer with the governors of 12 Appalachian states in an effort to form a coalition to develop new energy resources. Rhodes is interested in obtaining federal funds to develop new sources of natural gas.

They are assured of winning at least $15,000, the minimum in the weekly elimination that's telecast statewide from Cleveland.

Others listed Tuesday for the Buckeye 300 were George Rusincovich Jr. of Port Clinton; Jack S. Conaway, Lansing; Robert Beirersdorfer, Cincinnati; Delmar L. Bell, Dayton; and James E. Dawson, Painesville.

But the horse is a story of a different color.

A lottery spokesman said Tuesday the tale began last Easter. The policeman who rides John Boy had the habit of tethering his horse outside the downtown Keg & Quarter restaurant, and the waitresses there developed the habit of feeding John Boy tidbits from the kitchen.

At Easter they decided it would be fun to make him a bonnet. And then Jim Swingo, who owns the restaurant and motel, decided to join the fun by purchasing 50 of the 50-cent lottery tickets to garnish the bonnet.

One of the tickets proved to be a winner of a $20 prize, and that in turn put the horse into the pool for the state's fifth millionaire drawing, expected to come about mid-August.

And that meant that John Boy could win $1 million, the lottery spokesman said.

"It's a long shot," he added, "but horses are used to long shots."

Senate Estate Vote Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill intended to cut the court delays in setting a dead person's estate was up for a senate floor vote today.

The bill was to go to a vote on Tuesday, but was delayed at the request of its chief sponsor, Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton.

Headley said he was too tied up in the Senate Finance Committee, which is working on the state budget, to prepare for floor debate on the probate bill.

"I assume it will pass," Headley said Tuesday.

The bill shortens the time probate cases can remain in court and makes some changes in distribution of estates. It makes no basic changes in probate law, however, which are advocated by would-be reformers.

The world's highest dam upon completion will be the Nurek on Vakhsh, U.S.S.R. It will be 1,040 feet high with capacity for 8,424,000 square feet of water.

Rodents, rats and mice are mammals belonging to the Rodentia family.

She received an engraved silver tray from the club for her leadership. A pot of African violets was presented to Mrs. Poling by Willie Ehrlich.

As favors each place was marked with a silk American flag and members were urged to buy flags and fly them during all holidays and each day during the month of July in honor of the bicentennial.

During the brief business session conducted by the new president, Mrs. Ehrlich, a plaque given to the club for its assistance with the Head Start Program was displayed by Sally Thomerson, chairman of the home life committee. Members voted to give the proceeds of a recent bake sale to CARE and changes in the constitution, read by Marge Sealock, the new vice-president, were approved following minor alterations. All suggestions for philanthropic projects will be made known to the board for discussion at its meeting prior to the general meeting thus providing time for investigation.

Common Cause Turns Attention To State

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Common Cause of Ohio, which until now has limited its efforts mainly to national issues, has launched a campaign on five state issues despite declining membership.

"Our membership peaked with Watergate," said David C. Hetzler, executive director and lobbyist for the state group. "A lot of people think that because Watergate is over our job is over, but that definitely is not accurate."

Peak Ohio membership in Common Cause was 11,500. Membership now is down to 10,700, Hetzler said, with about 3,200 of that total in Cleveland's four congressional districts.

But, in April the Ohio group opened a Columbus office, hired a full-time lobbyist and selected five state government issues on which to focus.

Four of the chosen issues also are national goals — campaign finance reform, conflict of interest, reform of lobbyist disclosure laws and reform of open meeting laws. The fifth, an antigerrymandering campaign, is unique in Ohio.

Hetzler said the issues were selected by the state steering committee based on responses from Ohio members to a national poll of priorities taken last year. Next year a special priority poll is planned for Ohio.

"We're trying to make it as democratic as possible," said Hetzler. "However, even if 100 per cent said they wanted us to work for reform of marijuana laws we'd have to balk."

"Our mission is process reform in the political arena. One of the mistakes many citizens' groups make is that they tend to get washed out in so many areas that they lose their effectiveness."

Hetzler said Common Cause's stepped-up efforts in Ohio already have paid off by helping get an open meeting bill out an Ohio Senate committee where it had been languishing for months.

Also, past efforts by volunteers have put legislators "more on guard about how they spend their money and who they get it from."

Ohio now is organized by congressional districts with a coordinator and steering committee in almost all 23.

"Within that framework, we hope to break the membership into General Assembly districts and have a contact in each of those districts who will closely follow the work of his or her representative," Hetzler said.

He said Common Cause also plans to publish a state newsletter to keep members, media and other citizens informed about state voting records and the progress of Common Cause issues.

Recorded Music Replaces Live Acts In Discotheques

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
The discotheques are back.

The pulsating beat of recorded music is replacing live entertainment at an increasing number of the nation's night spots. Radio stations in several major cities have adopted a disco format in their programming. And recording stars who are the heavy favorites of dancers are going on promotional tours.

It is the rhythmic sound of jingling coins in a recession era as much as the hot beat that has contributed to the revival of dancing until dawn on floors of stone and steel under shattering strobe lights.

Club owners have found it cheaper to hire one good disc jockey instead of a bunch of live entertainers. Top hits and new releases are free from record companies. In some clubs, such as the Sound Machine in Los Angeles, drinks are less than $2.

Some observers of the frantic activity say people are trying to dance their money problems away. And those who can't afford the cover charge now have disco music piped through their stereos at home. Radio stations in New York, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Washington play hits such as "El Bimbo" and "The Hustle" for up to five hours every night.

Discotheques were imported from France about 10 years ago. Back then limousines packed with jet setters jammed the streets in front of those first discotheques. Arthur's in New York was probably the most famous.

The current discotheque revival is more egalitarian than before. Straights and gays, black and white, the young and the young at heart join together in thousands of clubs across the nation, bouncing to that distinctive disco beat.

Mr. Laff's in New York, formerly a singles bar, became a discotheque in 1972 when the pub scene got overcrowded. Owner Phil Linz said business was booming better than ever.

Last year, Faces in Chicago featured live entertainment. Now, the club is a private discotheque with more than 2,000 members. Manager Tom Thillens said he installed $75,000 worth of sound and lighting equipment including mirrors and a stainless steel dance floor with lights that pulsate to the music.

"It was tough finding decent singing groups all the time," said Thillens. "This way you have more control over the entertainment and equity left over. And I think people have more fun. The live music was only a distraction."

People want to hear what's new and by the time the groups got to the music it was old."

Concern about reputable customers has kept New York's Le Club, a private discotheque, in business for 14 years. "The minute you start letting anybody in, it's the kiss of death," said director Patrick Shields. "We like people who are socially on the up and are visibly attractive — or at least, not obtrusively unattractive."

The membership is closed at just under 1,000 people who pay $1,000 entry fee plus $175 annual dues.

Ice Cream Trucks Are Guarded Now

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio (AP) — The ice cream man will have a grown-up companion wherever he goes this summer in this community of 14,000.

City council passed an ordinance this week that mobile vendors, such as ice cream trucks, must have an employee who is required to get out of the truck when it is stopped and hold a warning sign for other traffic. He will be required to accompany children across the street.

The ordinance which goes into effect in a month follows an accident last summer when a child was hit by an ice cream truck last summer.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Rumor: Abby's A Bald Male Moonlighter

DEAR ABBY: There is scuttlebutt among my shipmates that Dear Abby is really a cigar-chewing, bald-headed boiler salesman in Cleveland, Ohio who moonlights by writing a column. Is there any substance to this accusation?

MERCHANT SEAMAN
DEAR SEAMAN: No way, mate! I'm a non-smoking, genuine female with hair growing on my head and no grass growing under my feet.

DEAR ABBY: One of my friends has a baby who is a little doll-very bright and good-natured. My friend and her baby are living with her parents.

Abby, I am not sure anything is wrong-and I hope to God there isn't-but that baby will be a year old next week, and he can't sit up at all. He just lays on his back or stomach and kicks his little legs around. I'm afraid something is wrong with his spine.

My problem is I'm afraid to mention it because the baby's mother doesn't seem to think anything is wrong, and I guess her parents don't either. (They say he's "lazy.")

I have a baby girl the same age, and she is all over the place. I just don't know what to do, Abby. If something is wrong with that baby's back, the sooner they get him to a doctor, the better, right? Should I bring it up? And, if so, how do I do it without sounding tacky?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Tell your friend of your fears and don't worry about sounding "tacky." It would be a kindness. And if she hasn't had her baby checked by her doctor recently, she should do so at once.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, my daughter was riding her horse along a country road. A car approached her from the rear and the well-intentioned driver blew the horn. The horse was startled, threw my daughter and ran away. My daughter was hospitalized with a broken arm.

The driver of the car stopped, administered first aid and kept repeating how sorry he was. He simply didn't know the basic safety rules that should be exercised around a horse.

You would do a great service if you would publish the following:

1. A loud, sudden noise will cause a horse to run forward blindly.
2. Never walk within six feet of the rear of a horse. He may kick.
3. Don't accelerate a motorcycle when passing a horse.

4. Young horses are more unpredictable than older horses. They are extremely strong and often dangerous. Never buy a young horse for an inexperienced young rider.

5. Never pet a strange horse. He will sense your nervousness and may bite. If the owner gives permission, you may treat a horse to a raw carrot (not sugar), extended on the palm of your hand.

PHOENIX HORSE LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Thank you for sharing some horse sense with my readers.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Ohio Expects Bumper Winter Wheat Harvest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This year's winter wheat harvest could be the second largest in the state's history, the Ohio Crop Reporting Service predicted Tuesday.

The crop is forecast to be 67.2 million bushels, 4 per cent above last year's large output and exceeded by the 1953 production of 68 million bushels.

The output would rank Ohio eighth in the nation. Winter wheat in the United States in 1975 is forecast at a record 1.62 billion bushels, 16 per cent above last year's large crop.

The service credited the increase in output to the 1.64 million acres expected to be harvested for grain, the largest acreage in 21 years. Ideal weather conditions last fall, especially in northwest Ohio, gave farmers the opportunity to increase acres.

As of June 1, yield per acre is estimated at 41 bushels, compared with 42 bushels in 1974. Last year's good start was nullified by a dry, cold, windy April. Early this month, wheat was three-quarters headed compared to 65 per cent by the same period last year.

The 1914 Buick was the first American car to feature an electric starter and electric lights.

Bald Eagles Holding On

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

The status of Ohio's nesting population of bald eagles is bit-tersweet: precarious but holding.

The number of young birds fledged this spring increased by one over 1974. But, in an unexpected development, the total of adult pairs that nested dropped from six to four, possibly three.

Overall, the outlook for our national symbol in Ohio is pessimistic, says the state's No. 1 eagle-watcher, Laurel Van Camp, a naturalist now retired from the Division of Wildlife.

Reproduction success is the key indicator of prospects for the eagle, whose statewide range now is confined to the Lake Erie marsh region of northwestern Ohio.

The species' best year in this decade was in 1965 when 12 nesting pairs fledged five young. It was downhill from then until 1973.

From the high of five young in 1965, three fledged in 1968, two in 1969, one in 1970, and none in 1971 and 1972, Van Camp's records show.

Six pairs nested in both 1973 and 1974, bringing off two young eagles each year.

This year three adult pairs are known to have nested, two successfully.

A fourth pair apparently wintered over near their aerie on property owned by the Ottawa Shooting Club, but whether they nested is uncertain.

Observers in the area say the Ottawa eagles worked on the nest early and they have started building another aerie nearby, but there are no confirmed reports of their having settled in either one.

If the total did slip to three, it would be the fewest active nests in the state in years.

Of the three nesting pairs, confirmed in aerial surveys by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, one fledged two young and another brought off a single eaglet.

The other pair, ironically, has been the most consistently unsuccessful of all. Eagles mate for life. Over the past 10 years, that pair has nested every year in the same woodlot, but has never reproduced, said Van Camp, who surmises that one or both birds are sterile.

The future of Ohio's eagles remains doubtful. It depends in part on why only three or four pairs nested this spring.

If weather or some other temporary factor interfered and more birds set up housekeeping in 1976, the picture may improve somewhat. But, if the adults were killed or left the area permanently, who knows?

Hard pesticides are known to render eggs of the big birds infertile, but widespread use of DDT and its persistent relatives has been banned. The great horned owl evicts eagles, often too late in the year for them to re-nest, but eagles have survived that interference forever.

Records show the wettest place in the United States is the Olympic Peninsula in Washington where the mountains receive up to 250 inches of rain and snow each year.

Rhode Island, smallest state in the United States, is nearly 20 times as big as the small European country of Liechtenstein.

Sprinkler System Deadline Extended For Nursing Homes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 600 Ohio nursing homes will get another six months to install fire prevention sprinkler systems in compliance with a 1972 law under legislation approved reluctantly by the House.

The amended bill, extending the Jan. 1, 1975 deadline to next Jan. 1, passed 53-39. It was returned to the Senate for concurrence.

The House vote came as state Fire Marshal Terry Drake said that 612 of the states 1,024 homes had not completed installation of the systems. Of these, he said, 58 homes "have taken no action and intend to take none" and another 147 are accepting bids and awarding contracts.

Opponents, like Asst. Minority

Leader Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, author of the December 1972 law, argued that the nursing homes have had long enough.

"We have to consider not the nursing home operators, but the people inside the homes," Murdock said.

Murdock's original bill was enacted in response to growing concern for the safety of the elderly in Ohio homes where fires have claimed more than 100 lives in the past 14 years.

Some nursing home operators, contending the systems are prohibitively expensive, have threatened to close rather than bear the cost of installation.

Majority Floor Leader William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, who supported the extension, placed additional blame on "bureaucratic bumbling" in implementation of the law.

Mallory emphasized that homes which failed to meet the extended deadline would face a cutoff of Medicaid payments.

"I wonder whose going to be the sponsor of similar legislation to make it (the deadline) 1978," said Rep. Dennis Eckart, D-18 Euclid, in opposing the grace period.

The bill failed by three votes to gain the two-thirds majority needed for immediate enactment, but opponents conceded the vote was meaningless in view of the lack of enforcement of the earlier deadline.

A spokesman for the health department, which received the fire marshal's report, said 164 homes have been notified that their licenses would be revoked. But he said it was unlikely any decertification would take effect with an extension pending.

The Senate will be asked to concur with an amendment removing language that would have required noncomplying homes to hire "independent safety engineer consultants" to conduct monthly inspections.

Quilter said this could lead to a "virtual monopoly by these individuals" and possible "price gouging." His amendment would allow local fire officials to make the inspections.

The amendment, approved 83-8, also said the homes should not be given additional times to install fire alarms as mandated by the 1972 law.

Retiring Teachers Honored

The faculty and employees of the Zane Trace Middle School in Kingston, honored the four retiring staff members with a covered-dish dinner Friday in the school cafeteria.

Gary N. Walsh, principal, presented each honored guest with a gift certificate.

Donald Graves, president of the Zane Trace Teacher's Association, presented Mrs. Pauline Clifton with an inscribed plaque, in recognition for her 19½ years of teaching in the Kingston-Union and Zane Trace Schools.

Other retiring members of the teaching staff are: Mrs. Lucille Howell and Mrs. Mildred Maxwell, and librarian, Mrs. Alberta Leffingwell.

Pretty Plants May Be Killers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — It's that time of year again, when curious kids and family pets find a pretty plant too appealing—and flirt with a case of poisoning.

The Drug and Poison Center here says most of its 34,000 calls a year involve children and their pets.

Pokeweed is one of the major culprits, says Dr. E. Don Nelson. It is identified by its black, round berries which contain a form of poison.

The most common remedy for a person suspected of consuming a poison is to make the person vomit or keep syrup of ipecac on hand. He warned however it should not be taken until after consultation with a physician.

Mushrooms are another problem because of their great variety and difficulty in identifying.

Many fruit-like plants are dangerous, such as the Osage orange fruit which looks like a grapefruit-sized light wrinkled ball and Japanese yew berries.

Even the vegetable gardens can harbor potential poison-producing plants. Rhubarb stalks are edible, but even a relatively small amount of the leaf is potentially lethal, Nelson said.

Rhubarb plant leaves can cause severe abdominal pains, vomiting and weakness.

Canning Questions Answered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As more and more persons nationwide have been seeking to beat rising food costs by preserving some of their own foods for later use, nutritionists have been deluged with questions.

Such is the case with Evelyn Gray, extension nutritionist at Ohio State University who says canning especially brings questions from experienced as well as first-time canners.

The following are her answers to questions most frequently asked.

—What causes jars not to seal? Should I reprocess?

"Jars may not seal because of flaws in the jar or lid, or if food is left on the sealing edge. Seals may also be broken, if self-sealing lids are tightened after processing or set upside down to cool. After processing, do not tighten or turn over jars with self-sealing lids."

—What causes discoloration in foods?

"Darkening at tops of jars may be due to air in jars or too little processing to kill enzymes. Overprocessing may discolor food throughout the jar. Pink and blue in pears, apples and peaches are due to chemical changes in natural fruit colors. Iron and copper from water or utensils can cause brown, black or gray colors. Brown color in corn may be caused by variety, ripeness, overprocessing or by using copper or iron pans. Foods may fade if stored in the light."

—Is it safe to eat discolored canned food?

"Color changes mentioned above do not mean food is unsafe. Spoilage may also cause color changes. If color is unusual, examine canned food carefully for bulging ends, leaks, spurting, off odors or mold. Follow this rule: 'If in doubt, throw it out.' Preferably, burn or triple wrap for garbage."

—If food looks and smells all right, can it be used directly from the jar?

"Low-acid foods (vegetables, meats and mixtures) should never be even tasted until they have been boiled 10 minutes, corn and greens 20 minutes. Heat to boiling, cover and continue boiling 10 or 20 minutes. Then, they may be safely eaten, if there has been no foaming or off odor."

—How long will canned food keep?

"More than one year under good storage conditions (cool, dark and dry)."

—What causes food to spoil?

"Common causes are overmaturity or poor-quality product, lack of cleanliness in handling and underprocessing or failure to follow recommended methods."

—May peanut butter, pickle and salad dressing jars be used for canning?

"These make good refrigerator storage jars, and some of the sturdy tapered jars can be used in freezing. However, they are not intended for reuse in canning, are not tempered to stand heat and pressure, and either do not use standard jar lids or have a narrow and uncertain sealing surface."

Columbia Gas Practices Conservation

Columbia Gas of Ohio isn't just asking its customers to take steps to conserve natural gas and other forms of energy. The gas company is practicing what it has been preaching.

Calvin Danford, manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio in the Circleville area, reports that statewide during 1974 the gas company reduced its own natural gas usage by 32.9 per cent, or 102,114,000 cubic feet. In addition, electric usage was cut 15.9 per cent and gasoline consumption by 216,270 gallons, a reduction of 9.3 per cent.

Energy savings were made by setting back thermostats in offices, garages and warehouses, and by improving insulation.

Danford said gas lights have been extinguished and electric lighting has been reduced both inside and outside wherever possible. The company is emphasizing vehicle maintenance, and all but the most essential travel has been eliminated to reduce gasoline consumption.

"With industries served by Columbia facing even greater reductions in gas deliveries this coming winter," the manager said, "conservation of natural gas by every one will be more important than ever. We continue to urge all our customers to conserve natural gas in order to have additional supplies of energy available to industry."

Danford said that pamphlets offering tips on energy conservation are available at any Columbia office and that anyone that has a question on how to conserve can have it answered by calling the local gas company conservation consultant.

CHARLES C. THOMAS

Kingston Native Authors Short Novel

Charles Cyrus Thomas, a native of Kingston who now makes his home in Los Angeles, has authored a book, "Walk The Dark Streets," which is being published by Vantage Press, New York.

His father was the late Jacob Thomas. Following his high school days in Kingston, Thomas attended Kent State University and Columbia University Teachers College, graduating from both.

He has appeared in two films, "Cargo To Cape Town" and "Carmen Jones," has written two volumes of poetry, 40 television scripts and all this while a school teacher in such varied communities as Los Angeles, Calif., New York City, Chagrin Falls Park and Roxabell, Ohio.

From time to time he has acted as consultant to HEW.

Besides his many professional accomplishments, Thomas has been a house painter, janitor, tenor in a quartet, and he and his wife Estella, have sung with the Los Angeles chorus under the direction of the renowned Dr. Jester Hairston.

"Walk The Dark Streets" is a simple, warm, emotional and sensitive short novel about a 17-year-old girl Tayha Robbins, who has left home to find her independence. Instead, she finds herself trapped in a small world of gay people.

Thomas makes no attempt at examining and analyzing Tayha's reasons for her hangups. It is the story of a family whose lives are founded on love and deep interpersonal relationships. Their hearts are now torn asunder because of their daughter's behavior, and the father, Leathon Robbins, is caught between the forces of lying to his wife, Becky, and telling her the truth that their daughter is a homosexual.

Thomas authored the book after reading a number of case histories and interviewing several parents who suffer the Robbins' plight. He fictionalizes the material revealing the traumas and manifestations of a family's love torn apart by unfortunate events. The writer poignantly tells of a small family suffering pain and agony as a result of societal mores.

Top Trotters At SD For Stakes Race

Twenty-one of the nation's top 3-year-old trotters will invade Scioto Downs Thursday night to compete in the $22,200 Challenge Stakes. The huge entry forced the race into two divisions, each division going for a purse of $11,100.00 and one of the silver Challenge Stakes trophies.

In the first division, slated as the ninth race, the Meadow Skipper colt, Skipper Walt from the Roland Beulieu stable, is the slight early choice over Howard Beissinger's Richthofen and Frank Todd, Jr., with last year's Scarlet and Gray Cup winner, Gayn.

The second division, scheduled as the tenth and last race of the night, has the World Champion Excellent Tad going for his fifth victory with no defeats this year against Billy Haughton's Spearmint, Gene Riegle with Speed Ayre, Howard Beissinger with The Last Hurrah, and Carl Allen's Blackjack Parlay. Frank Todd, Sr. has the highly ranked High Mark in the second division.

Skipper Walt with a 2-year-old mark of 2:01, Spearmint with a juvenile mark of 2:00 2-5, and High Mark who trotted in 2:03 4-5 over a half mile track last year, are ranked third and seventh respectively in this year's top-ten list of Hambletonian eligibles.

Excellent Tad, the high-stepping son of Lincoln Land Tad, set the world record for 2-year-old trotting geldings over a five eights mile track last year in 2:06. Trained and driven by George Mueller, Excellent Tad has won four straight this year, including a 2:03 3-5 blazer at The Meadows.

In the first division Howard Beissinger has Richthofen, named for the famed World War I German ace, owned by Joe Mendelson of Palos, Verdes, California, and the cage reinsman, Lew Williams, has the Blaze Hanover speedster, Woody Who, named for you know who.

The second division has Spearmint, the saucy Speedster colt, that driver Billy Haughton hopes will give him his second straight Hambletonian victory.

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH

Milk is one of the most important sources of many of the nutrients needed for proper development and maintenance of the human body. June is dairy month, a time to examine some of the benefits of milk and other dairy products.

Milk should be included in a well-planned diet. Two glasses or one pint of whole milk provide approximately 17 grams of protein and are considered an outstanding source of protein.

Milk is also an outstanding source of calcium and riboflavin. It is a good source of niacin, thiamine, vitamin A and vitamin D if the milk has been fortified with vitamin D.

Based on an eight-ounce serving, whole milk provides 160 calories, skim milk, 90 calories, two per cent milk, 140 calories and reconstituted nonfat dry milk, 90 calories.

Cheese, cottage cheese, sour cream, whipped cream, butter, ice cream and yogurt are foods containing milk and many of the same nutrients as milk. They can be used to fulfill part of the milk requirement in the diet.

A chocolate milkshake is one popular way of drinking milk.

CHOCOLATE MILKSHAKE

For each serving, measure ¾ cup of milk, two tablespoons of chocolate syrup and one scoop of vanilla ice cream into a blender. Blend until smooth. The ingredients can also be mixed together with a rotary blender.

Reds Fall, But Stay On Top

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

"I'm glad to see them go," said Sparky Anderson. "They're ferocious."

The Cincinnati manager said goodbye and good riddance to the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday night after watching them plunder his pitching staff.

"When they're going like that, it doesn't matter who you pitch against them," sighed Anderson after the Pirates walloped 17 hits and beat the Reds 9-5.

Coupled with Monday night's 9-2 loss to the Pirates, Cincinnati's pitchers were racked up for 18 runs and 32 hits in two games at Riverfront Stadium. The Pirates embarrassed starter Pat Darcy and five other Cincinnati pitchers Tuesday night.

"Maybe this is the start of something big," said Willie Stargell, who collected three doubles and a single and drove in five runs. "Maybe this will be the start of some consistent hitting."

In the other National League games, the Houston Astros whipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3; the Philadelphia Phillies blanked the San Diego Padres 7-0; the Montreal Expos nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4 and the New York Mets turned back the San Francisco Giants 5-0. The St. Louis-Atlanta game was postponed by rain.

Sam McDowell, 2-1, making his first start of the season for Pittsburgh, was the recipient of the lusty Pirate support. He went five innings to pick up the victory.

The Pirates jumped on Darcy, 1-3, for three runs in the first inning on singles by Richie Hebner and Al Oliver, Stargell's two-run double and Richie Zisk's double.

Hebner walked, Oliver singled and Stargell doubled then home for two more runs in the fourth, then they scored twice again in the fifth when Zisk singled and Manny Sanguillen hit his second homer of the year.

The Pirates got their final two runs in the eighth when Hebner walked, Oliver and Stargell singled and Zisk hit a sacrifice fly.

Astros 4, Cubs 3

Enos Cabell singled home the tie-breaking run and pitcher Doug Konieczny doubled home another in the eighth, leading Houston past Chicago. Cesar Cedeno walked to open the Astros' rally, stole second and took third when Chicago catcher Steve Swisher threw the ball into center field.

Phillies 7, Padres 0

Larry Christenson and Tug McGraw combined on a six-hitter as Philadelphia defeated San Diego for the Phillies' first victory in their last 11 road games. Jay Johnstone, who had a single and double, and Terry Harmon, who had two triples, each drove in two runs off loser Dan Spillner, 2-7.

Expos 5, Dodgers 4

Pepe Mangual raced home from second base on a misfired pickoff attempt by pitcher Mike Marshall in the seventh inning to break a 4-4 tie and lead Montreal past Los Angeles.

Mets 5, Giants 0

Tom Seaver pitched a six-hitter for his 30th career shutout and batterymate Jerry Grote knocked in two runs to lead New York past San Francisco.

Ryan-Watchers See Wrong Game

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

All eyes were on Nolan Ryan again, looking for another nohitter.

They were looking in the wrong direction. They should have been looking at Jim Perry.

Ryan, the California Angels' flamethrower, sauntered into New York Tuesday night. In his last two games he'd thrown a record-tying fourth career nohitter, beating the Baltimore Orioles, and had followed that up with a two-hitter.

Naturally, everyone figured, he had a pretty good chance to get No. 5; but they weren't counting on one thing. He wasn't pitching against Baltimore. Perry was.

And for 52-3 innings, Perry flirted with a no-hitter. It would have been his first. Then Al Bumbry ruined it with a single up the middle. So Perry, cast aside by the Cleveland Indians and acquired by the Oakland A's only three weeks ago, finished with a one-hitter as the A's beat the Orioles 3-0.

Ryan, meanwhile, got bombed by the Yanks with four runs in the second inning, two on Chris Chambliss' homer, and whipped the Angels 6-4.

In the rest of the American League it was Chicago 9, Milwaukee 2; Texas 8, Boston 3; Kansas City 4, Detroit 3, and Minnesota 5, Cleveland 3 in 12 innings.

"My record doesn't look too good," said the 38-year-old right-handed Perry, now 1-1 with Oakland and 2-7 overall with a 5.59 earned run average. "But I haven't pitched that badly. I know I'm a better pitcher than I've shown. Maybe this will turn things around."

Bumbry's two-out single in the sixth was a clean hit. "It was out of my reach," Perry said. "It was off to my left and hit on the corner of the dirt."

A two-run homer by Gene Tenace in the fourth and a solo shot by Claudell Washington in the sixth gave Perry all the runs he needed.

Yankees 6, Angels 4

"It was probably the worst I've pitched all year," Ryan said after his bid to become the first 11-game winner in the majors this year wound up as his fourth defeat.

He walked leadoff batter Thurman Munson in the second inning and Chambliss lined a homer into the second deck of the right field stands. A walk, singles by Sandy Alomar and Walt Williams and a throwing error made it 4-0, then the Yanks chased Ryan in the sixth, scoring two more runs on singles by Williams, Roy White and Munson and Chambliss' sacrifice fly.

White Sox 9, Brewers 2

While Perry was doing his thing and Ryan was trying to do his, 10-game loser Wilbur Wood found out he still knows how to do his. After six unsuccessful tries to get his fourth victory of the season, he finally did, even though Milwaukee knocked him around for 10 hits.

He got it because the White Sox knocked out 14, the big one being Pat Kelly's homer which triggered a four-run fifth inning.

Royals 4, Tigers 3

John Mayberry's home run lifted the Royals into a tie in the second inning. Cookie Rojas' RBI grounder put them ahead in the fifth and George Brett's eight-inning single knocked in what proved to be the run that beat the Tigers. Brett's hit offset Willie Horton's 14th homer of the year for Detroit in the ninth.

Twins 5, Indians 3

Steve Brye's tie-breaking single in the 12th inning and a subsequent bases-loaded walk to Tony Oliva gave Minnesota its winning edge against the Indians. Rod Carew gave the Twins a 3-2 lead in the top of the eighth with his sixth homer but Cleveland tied it in the bottom of the inning on George Hendrick's 11th homer.

Rangers 8, Red Sox 3

Jeff Burroughs kept up his assault against American League pitching with his sixth homer in the last seven games and 15th of the season to help Texas rout the Red Sox.

Pirate Star Hopes Bats Remain Hot

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Maybe this is the start of something," said Willie Stargell, who pounded Cincinnati pitching to no end Tuesday night.

"Last year we almost waited too long," said the veteran Pittsburgh Pirates slugger after drilling three consecutive doubles and a single for five runs batted in, triggering a 9-5 romp over the Reds.

"Maybe this will be the start of some consistent hitting," he said as the Pirates capped their two-game sweep, finishing with 32 hits and 18 runs.

"I'm glad to see them go," groaned Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. "They're ferocious."

Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh could have rocked himself to sleep after the first inning of both games. The Pirates kayoed Cincinnati's starting pitchers in the opening inning both nights, getting five runs Monday night and three Tuesday.

Murtaugh welcomed the Bucs' bat explosion.

"In the past when you thought about the Pirates, you thought about hitting. So far this year, our pitching has carried us. If we're starting hitting now, we'll be awfully tough the rest of the way," said Murtaugh.

One of the victims in the Cincinnati's parade of pitchers was Will McEnaney, whose sensational scoreless relief streak ended at 24 1-3 innings.

After being informed the Pirates play at Houston next, the 23-year-old lefthander quipped: "they're gonna tear the dome down."

The Pirates rapped 17 base hits, the most against Cincinnati this year.

"When they're going like that, it doesn't matter who you pitch against them," said Anderson.

McEnaney had not allowed a run since April 20. He took an 0.93 earned run average into the game, but that was jolted in the eighth inning when Al Oliver and Stargell singled and Richie Zisk brought in a run with a sacrifice fly.

"That was gonna happen sometime. I wasn't making anything big out of the streak. I don't think Don Drysdale was too worried," said McEnaney.

Manny Sanguillen hit a tworun homer in the fifth. Cesar Geronimo had an inside-the-park homer for the Reds runs.

Pat Darcy, 1-3, absorbed the loss, while Sam McDowell, making his first start of the season, lifted his record to 2-1. McDowell went five innings, permitting six hits and three runs.

The Reds host the St. Louis Cardinals tonight with Don Gullett, 7-3, facing Bob Forsch, 6-4.

Woman Bowler Of Year Rankled

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The endless stream of questions rankles Betty Morris.

"I must look different or walk different, or talk different or something," said the Woman Bowler of the Year in 1974 from Stockton, Calif.

"Everywhere I go, people want to know how the Betty Morris of 1975 is different from the Betty Morris of 1974."

Really, Mrs. Morris contended there is no change unless it's the loss of the consistency that marked her performances of last year. One of her 1974 victories was in the $50,000 Akron Classic.

Jug N Bug Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jug N Bug led wire to wire, winning the featured eighth race by 3/4 lengths over Arnetts Payoff at Scioto Downs Tuesday night. Quick Sam was third.

The winner covered the mile pace in 2:04 and returned $4.60, $4.00 and $2.80. Arnetts Payoff returned $12.20 and $4.80 to place and Quick Sam paid $3.00.

Most Lady Pros Eye Medina Cash

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — A field that includes all but one of the top 40 Ladies Professional Golf Association's leading money winners this year will go after the $7,000 first prize in the $50,000 Medina Open starting Friday.

Only veteran Marilyn Smith will be missing from the top earners in 1975 in the 54-hole test over Weymouth Valley Golf Club's rolling 6,162 yards.

Sandra Haynie needed four sudden death holes in the rain to edge Gloria Ehret for the first Medina championship last year. Both are part of the field of 85 professionals and five amateurs this time.

JoAnne Carner, the winner at Pine Plains, N.Y., on Sunday, will be one of the favorites. The 35-year-old Floridian, 1974's top money winner, is bidding for her third LPGA victory in the last four weeks.

Owners Deny 'Dump Kuhn' Movement

NEW YORK (AP) — While not announcing overwhelming support for Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, a number of owners denied a published reports they had banded together to block re-election of the sport's ruler.

The denials came specifically from George Steinbrenner, suspended managing general partner of the New York Yankees, and Jerold C. Hoffberger of the Baltimore Orioles — two of the three men reported on Tuesday by the Chicago Sun-Times to be leading the drive.

The other owner purportedly involved was Charles O. Finley of the Oakland A's.

Steinbrenner said from Tampa, Fla., "I would never vote against the Commissioner because of anything he did within the perimeter of his authority. To begin with, under the terms of my suspension, I am not involved with the Yankees, so I would not be voting, anyway."

The voting to which Steinbrenner referred is the vote of confidence to be taken at the league meetings during the All-Star break in mid-July. If four voters from each league were to go against Kuhn, a new commissioner would be sought despite the fact that Kuhn's seven-year contract still has one year to run.

"People seem to think the Yankees will vote against him because of my suspension and that is absolutely not so," Steinbrenner told the New York Daily News.

Steinbrenner was suspended for two years from any activity with the Yankees after being indicted and fined for making illegal contributions to the campaign fund of former President Richard Nixon.

Hoffberger denied talking to Steinbrenner, Finley, "or any club owner or representative" about alleged ouster plans. He added he did not have the "slightest idea" if others were involved in such a movement, but was quoted by the Chicago Sun-Times as saying that Kuhn had "done a bad job" during his tenure.

Michigan, won't be limited to playing post-season matches in the Rose Bowl under a ruling adopted by the conference.

Acceptance became a virtual certainty Tuesday when Michigan's athletic board of control voted to accept a new plan widening the league's bowl policy. The U-M board was the sixth in the conference to approve the plan, thus making it Big Ten policy.

A simple majority vote of conference members was needed, with Ohio State, Michigan State, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota voting approval earlier.

The deciding vote by the Michigan board came as no surprise. The Wolverines, who have a 30-2-1 record over the last three years and have been Big Ten co-champions since 1972, have nonetheless missed every Rose Bowl since that time. Ohio State has gotten the bids instead, intensifying the rivalry between the two schools.

Discussions on the plan were held earlier with Pacific Eight conference members, and although final details remain unresolved, the Pac-8 is expected to fully back the plan. Big Ten schools are expected to be able to go to other bowls — including the Cotton Bowl, Sugar Bowl and Orange Bowl — this year.

Under the proposal, the conference champion, as now, would be the Rose Bowl representative. The next three teams would be eligible for other "conference approved" bowl games.

A second-place finisher must be invited prior to acceptance by a third-place finisher. The third-place team would have to invited prior to acceptance by the No. 4 team.

Teams may not participate in any bowl games prior to Dec. 26, the proposal says, and a team does not have to accept an invitation.

Under the proposed rules, a team turning down a bowl bid would lose its Big Ten cut of the receipts if another conference team accepts the bid. Currently all Big Ten teams share receipts of the Rose Bowl.

Bengals Waive Former Buck, Adams

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals took another step Tuesday to make room for their youthful crop of incoming linebackers by waiving veteran reserve Doug Adams.

The former Ohio State captain was awarded to the Kansas City Chiefs.

Williamsport News

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, Phone 986-3481

By now anyone reading this column on a fairly regular basis knows how I do on surprise parties and so it was again this past Sunday evening when the "surprise" was our daughter from Brazil for the past six months, Miss Elisabeth "Beth" Sa de Souza.

Along with the help of Kristi Lane, Debbie Rigsby and Aunt Edna Easterday we really pulled off a real whopper of a surprise. Guests were classmates and friends Beth has made during her days as a student at Westfall Junior High.

Beth was thrilled to the tips of her toes and enjoyed to the fullest a combination adios and happy birthday party. And like everyone else she "loved" the gifts given to her.

All too soon Saturday will be here and our Beth will be returning to her native country with much to tell her family there but we hope she always remembers her family in Williamsport, Ohio as they will always fondly remember her.

Friendships bring about all kinds of happenings to reminisce about over the years and one such happening was chalked up this week end for young buddies Guy Bivens and Jay Lane. On Saturday Guy was indulging in a bit of cherry picking and tumbled out of the tree with the result being a broken arm. Guy is the son of Paul and Suzan Bivens.

On Sunday Jay, a son of Leroy and Gwynn Lane, suffered a broken foot. Details of how the break came about escape me at the moment since I was told about the accident at Beth's party. What a way to start summer vacation, huh?

Five-year-old Mark Forsythe, one of my little friends, has the misfortune to be a victim of that childhood disease mumps. Since I have never had them I will wish Mark a quick recovery via the Herald rather than a personal visit.

The entire community of Williamsport is distressed over the illness of Donna (Mrs. Aulten) Carter. Taken suddenly ill Sunday evening she is a patient at Berger Hospital and we all sincerely wish for a complete recovery to good health.

Our dear friend Cotton Timmons continues to be a heart patient at Riverside Hospital, Room 606, Columbus. We say our prayers daily that better health will be restored to Cotton and he will soon be back home.

Jackie Kay Long, daughter of Bill and Vallie Long of Daartown, was among the graduates of Talawanda High School. Attending the graduation exercises held in Millett Assembly Hall on the Miami University campus were grandparents, Mrs. Pete Cochenour, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Long all of our community; Mrs. Don Adams (Aunt Jean) and cousin Karen Adams (1975 L.E. graduate) of near Kingston.

The Bill Long family are former residents of this area. Crystal Cochenour stayed with Grandma B (Agnes Brayshaw) which would be Crystal's great-granny until grandpa Pete got home from work and his doctor's appointment.

Grandma B. is in very poor health and it breaks our heart to tell you so but perhaps cards would bring some cheer to her.

Crystal has just returned to our town after spending the winter months way out in Wyoming. She is the daughter of Jim Cochenour.

Coming over from Monaca, Pa. to spend a few days with his mother was Roy Brayshaw. He expected to return to his home either Monday or Tuesday.

Ray Frazier of Angola, Ind. is now back in the Hoosier state after being in our village for several days with his 92-year-old father Art Frazier. A long time friend Paul Beavers was also here and the two men spent some time trying their angler skills. Art is feeling a bit better healthwise since he underwent the draining of fluid from his knee which had become most painful.

Robert and Margaret Barnes are delighted with the news that daughter Virginia and her husband Wilson Lehman and their two images Dawn and Larry will be locating here in Ohio. The Lehmans are houseguests at the Barnes home at the time being awaiting the arrival of their belongings from Arvada, Col. where they have resided for many years.

The euchre group to which I belong met last Tuesday evening at the home of Dot (Mrs. Gerald) Burris. Walking away with the prizes were Most Loners: Stew Forsythe; Floating Loner: Dot Burris; high: Dolly Thompson; low: Betty Clifton. Helping them win their prizes were Janet Clifton, Elgie Hayes, Barb Rickman and yours truly. The hostess served buffet refreshments that were yummy good but awfully hard on those who are trying to limit calorie intake.

Summer is traditionally vacation months so I would like to make note at this time that it is my policy to NEVER report on a vacation knowingly until the folks have returned home. I try very hard not to make mention while our people are away because to me this could very well be an open invitation to those undesirable characters who like to call upon homes when there is nobody there.

With the ever-increasing crime rate and especially burglarizing it behooves us all to take every precaution so by not reporting while the vacation is being enjoyed I figure I am doing my little bit to reduce the chances of someone being "ripped off".

I have one local lady who is still somewhat miffed at me because I would not report she was going to be gone for thus and such a time but waited until she returned home instead. She will learn to love me yet (my horoscope says to be confident in my thinking).

We have a couple of Don't Forgets this week. First of all, remember the revival services being held each evening at the Williamsport Community Church through June 15 and beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Secondly, mark the date June 14 (Flag Day, by the way) for the annual Williamsport Baseball League Fish Fry being held at the American Legion Hall on Green St. with serving starting at 5 p.m.

Cancer contributions are still being accepted and volunteers are still doing their "routes". Thanks go this week to Dale Smith, chairman of Monroe Twp. and the members of Monroe 4-H Livestock Club who canvassed the township under the guidance of advisors Dick Downs, Larry Bigam and Dale Mowery. Your efforts are deeply appreciated.

This Is Fun?

On Monday someone with a rather sick sense of humor perpetrated a cruel hoax on the citizenry of our town. A Circleville ambulance concern was called and directed to a certain family here in the village. Of course, the ambulance hurried over here only to discover that no true emergency actually existed.

It caused a great deal of alarm for the family because while there is illness in the family and they might very well need the services of an ambulance at any time of the day or night such was not so today but they are deeply concerned that should the need arise would they be able to convince the business of the true need after today's hoax.

Then, too, all citizens of this town have been more or less put in the same jeopardy since each call will surely now be closely questioned and the delay in time could be fatal. Surely time could be better spent than nonsense such as this. Anyone having any knowledge of such calls should report it to the proper authorities.

Sound Off

In recent days I have discovered that many keepers of the budget are more and more becoming very uptight over the practice of businesses demanding the purchase of so many dollars worth of merchandise in order to be eligible to buy a "bargain". The topic has been cussed and discussed at the card tables, over cups of coffee, at meetings and during family gatherings.

Get a housewife angered enough and it could be mighty interesting, especially if they form a group and decide to take matters into their own hands.

Perhaps if each main office received letters of protest they might give a more fair break to the buyer. How can persons on limited incomes possibly take advantage of such a "good deal"? Surely there must be a better way so all people can be first class citizens and not just a few.

The Rev. Ed Linville is a patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital, however, he is not permitted visitors or phone calls. Cards would be super neat.

Also a patient at Mt. Carmel Hospital is John Puffinbarger, who is a prominent and highly respected local farmer. Cards would be good for him, too.

Bill Carter, lay speaker, brought the message from the pulpit of Williamsport United Methodist Church this past Sunday and what a fine job he did. The congregation is might fortunate to have Bill. His sermon was very interesting and thought provoking.

Be with you again next week, be the Lord willing. Take care.

Think About: The smallest seed of faith is better than the largest fruit of happiness. (Henry David Thoreau)

Earliest Prefab Made By Indians

NEW HARMONY, Ind. (AP) — Perhaps the earliest examples of prefabricated housing in America were constructed in this small southwestern Indiana community in 1814.

Historic New Harmony's Funders, a group of German Lutheran separatists called the Harmonists, built all of their houses from standardized parts which were numbered for quick assembly. The Harmonists also developed effective "Dutch biscuit" insulation, made by wrapping straw and mud around pieces of wood.

This insulation continues to this day, to keep those houses — which have been preserved and restored in the community — both warm in the winter and cool in the summer.

EPA ASSISTANT IS SPEAKER—Robert Carey (right), assistant chief of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, was introduced to Pickaway Plains Sertoma Club by Hugh Barnhill (right) Tuesday. Carey gave the group his view of the current energy problem, placing emphasis on conservation of fossil fuels. During the regular business session, final plans were made for the ice cream social Saturday afternoon at Ted Lewis Park. A Pickaway Plains La Sertoma Club has been organized. It was also decided the club will have booths at the Pickaway County Fair and Pumpkin Show.

—A 20-year program of mail surveillance between the United States and the Soviet Union which involved the handling of up to 4.3 million pieces of mail a year and opened as many as 13,000 letters a year.

—A special intelligence unit known as Operation CHAOS which, beginning in 1967, "became a repository for large quantities of information on the domestic activities of American citizens."

—A 1967 program which "at first monitored, but later infiltrated, dissident organizations in the Washington, D.C., area to determine if the groups planned any activities against CIA or other government installations."

—Five investigations, some involving wiretaps and others physical surveillance, against unidentified newsmen suspected of receiving leaks of classified information.

—Investigations of agency personnel which included such "invalid" techniques as breakins, wiretaps and bugging.

The commission said it could find no evidence to dispute the Warren Commission findings that Lee Harvey Oswald was the sole assassin of President John F. Kennedy and it rejected allegations that the CIA was involved in the 1963 assassination.

In addition to a joint congressional oversight panel, the commission recommended that:

—A separate oversight panel be established within the executive branch.

—Portions of the CIA budget be made public.

—CIA directors be limited to a term of 10 years and prior intelligence experience should not be a requirement for the job.

—Legislation should be enacted making it a crime for CIA employees or former employees to divulge classified information.

Auto Repairmen Pave Way To Improved Retail Sales

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The automobile repair business sits on top of a slight overall improvement in retail sales throughout Ohio during the first four months of 1975 compared to the same period last year.

Statistics from the Ohio State University Center for Business and Economic Research show filling stations and drug stores with the greatest increase in sales during the comparison periods.

Both registered an 18 per cent increase while other statistics indicated Ohio retail sales overall had an upturn in most kinds of businesses in April, both in comparison with March sale volume and that of April 1974.

However, the four-month improvement was limited to 10 of 25 businesses detailed in the Ohio indexes, and three of the top four were related to automotive repairs.

Following drug stores and filling stations were repair garages and automotive establishments other than dealers, up 13 per cent.

Vehicle dealers' sales were 4 per cent above 1974, the center said.

The center reported that overall April retail sales were up 6 per cent over March after seasonal adjustments, up 1 per cent over last April and up 2 per cent in the four-month comparisons.

Businesses with the largest drops in sale volume were: construction-oriented (heating, plumbing and electrical supply dealers), down 33 per cent; household appliances, 20 per cent; and lumber-building materials dealers, 11 per cent.

Regionally, one of 11 city-county areas surveyed by the center showed sales improvements in April over the year earlier. Business in Portsmouth (Scioto County) was up by 2 per cent.

The center said decreases ranged from fractional in Youngstown (Mahoning) to 7 per cent in Akron (Summit).

Others were Columbus (Franklin) and Dayton (Montgomery), 1 per cent; Canton (Stark) and Hamilton-Middletown (Butler), 3 per cent; Cincinnati (Hamilton), Cleveland (Cuyahoga) and Toledo (Lucas), 5 per cent; and Chillicothe (Ross), 6 per cent.

Patterns for quarterly comparisons were similar, with all city-county areas declining except Portsmouth (up 2 per cent) and Canton (up 1 per cent). Declines ranged up to 4 per cent, the center said.

Man Suffers Arm Fracture In Accident

Twenty-four-year-old Stanley H. Perrett, Route 1, Ashville, was taken to Rickenbacker Air Force Base Hospital for a fractured left arm sustained in a three-car accident, 4:25 p.m. Tuesday.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Fite, Perrett was attempting to make a left turn into a private driveway, from the Harrisburg-Fairfield Road, and did not observe an oncoming vehicle driven by Reginald N. Spencer, 47, Route 1, Lockbourne.

Woman Abducted By Unknown Man

A 32-year-old Columbus woman was abducted at the Darby Tavern 1:10 a.m. today by an unknown man.

Thieves Hit Radio, Gas

Gasoline and a citizen band radio were the targets of thieves in the city Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

Ed Evans Towing Service, 310 Watt St., notified police that someone had stolen a Hi Gain 23 Channel citizen band radio from under the dash of his truck while it was parked at the rear of his property.

A full tank of gas was siphoned from a car belonging to Betty McFarland, 408 Stella Ave., while it was parked at her father's house.
